How to Read the 2026 Basketball Pan Pacific Masters Games Draw

The official draw can look a little confusing at first, especially with multiple age groups, pools, courts and venues. This guide will help you find your games and understand how the tournament works.

1. Find your age group and pool

Pages 4–8 of the official draw list all teams competing in each age group and show which pool each team belongs to.

For example, if you are playing in 45+ Men, Pool A, find your team name under the 45+ Men section and check your team number.

Your team number is used throughout the draw to identify you in each matchup.

Important: Your team number is not your ladder position or ranking. It is simply your team's identifying number in the draw.

2. Find your games in the daily draw

Pages 17–23 contain the daily schedule for the tournament.

Each day is divided by:

- Time: The scheduled start time of your game.
- Venue: Coomera Indoor Sports Centre or Runaway Bay Indoor Stadium.
- Court: The court your game will be played on.
- Age group: The competition you are playing in.
- Matchup: The two team numbers playing each other.
- Pool or division: The stage of the competition.

Find your age group, then read across the row to identify your scheduled time and court.

For example, if the draw says:

45+ Men | 9:00am | Court 1 | 3 v 7 | Pool A

This means teams 3 and 7 in the 45+ Men, Pool A competition are scheduled to play at 9:00am on Court 1.

Check the pool lists at the front of the draw to confirm which team number belongs to your team.

3. Understand the numbers in a matchup

A matchup such as 3 v 7 means Team 3 plays Team 7.

The first number is not necessarily the home team, and the second number is not necessarily the away team. These numbers are simply used to identify the two teams.

Always check the age group and pool as well, as the same team numbers may appear in different competitions.

4. Understand pools and divisions

Some age groups have multiple pools, such as Pool A, Pool B, Pool C or Pool D.

Your pool determines which teams you play during the initial stage of the tournament.

Some competitions also have multiple divisions, such as Division 1, Division 2 or Division 3. These divisions may appear later in the draw as teams progress through the competition.

Make sure you check the correct age group, pool and division when looking for your games.

5. Understand finals and playoff games

As the tournament progresses, the draw will include finals and playoff games.

You may see terms such as:

- QF: Quarter-final.
- SF: Semi-final.
- GOLD: Gold medal game.
- BRONZE: Bronze medal game.
- 5/6 Playoff: A game to determine 5th and 6th place.
- 7/8 Playoff: A game to determine 7th and 8th place.
- XO – Cross-over Game
- PL: Prelim Finals

Some games will also use finishing positions from the pool stage to determine matchups.

For example, 1st A v 2nd B means the team that finishes first in Pool A plays the team that finishes second in Pool B.

Where the draw uses codes such as WSF1 or LSF1, these refer to teams progressing from earlier finals games. Check the relevant day's draw to see which game the code relates to.

Your finals or playoff opponent may not be confirmed until earlier games have been completed.

6. Check your games each day

We recommend checking the official draw regularly throughout the tournament.

Before each game, make sure you know:

- Which venue you are playing at.
- Which court you are playing on.
- What time your game is scheduled.
- Who your opponent is.
- Who is staying behind to score the game after yours.

Please arrive with enough time to prepare and warm up before your scheduled game.

Need help?

If you are unsure about your team number, pool, game time, court or opponent, please check the official draw first. If you still need assistance, contact the tournament organisers.

We look forward to welcoming everyone to the 2026 Basketball Pan Pacific Masters Games. Good luck to all teams!
